

MY FAVORITE BAND THE SAUTI SOL

Sauti Sol band

My Favorite Band SAUTI SOL (also known as "aAfro-pop, kapuka") are My Favorite Band simply because they produce the best music not just in Kenya but the whole of Africa continent their music are entertaining and easy to listen to since they use swahili and english languages, They are loving people and caring. The band was formed in 2005 as an a cappella group by Baraza, Chimano and Savara, who had met at the Upper Hill High School and performed in Voices in the Light, a music group at the school.[2][3] They then met guitarist Otieno, who attended Strathmore School, at the Alliance française in Nairobi, where they would frequent and decided to form Sauti (Swahili for "sound") and immediately wrote their first song, "Mafunzo ya Dunia" (Literally: lessons of the world), which would later feature in their debut studio album Mwanzo.[5] The band later added the Spanish word "Sol" (sun) to their name and formed Sauti Sol (supposed to mean "voices in the sun").[11] In 2006, the band participated in the Spotlight on Kenyan Music competition, hosted by the Alliance française in Nairobi. They were included in the album compilation recording and later got signed to Kenya Records.[12] The four members all completed their university education in Kenya. Baraza studied journalism at the United States International University, while Savara studied commerce and finance at Africa Nazarene University. Chimano studied journalism at the University of Nairobi, while Otieno studied actuarial science at the Jomo Kenyatta University of Agriculture and Technology.[11] Sauti Sol released their debut studio album Mwanzo on 4 August 2009, via their record label Kenya Records, to critical acclaim, and followed up with their second studio album Sol Filosofia two years later. The music video for the album's second single, "Coming Home", earned them the Best Music Video award at the 2011 Kisiwa Music Awards, with the group itself also winning the Best Fusion Artist/Group of the Year award.[13]

Polycarp Otieno

Polycarp Otieno biography

Polycarp, aka Fancy Fingers, is perhaps the least popular in the Sauti Sol music group as he doesn't sing. And you know how tricky it is to stand out when you are rarely part of the vocals that fans always look forward to. Nonetheless, the talented guitarist has managed to stay afloat in the band since its inception, thanks to the incredible bond the quartet shares. Otieno was born on November 14, 1987, making him 33 in 2020. Polycarp learnt playing his favourite musical instrument, the guitar at All Saints Cathedral where he was getting. He is immensely talented in playing the guitar and has produced for several famous artists including Suzanna Owiyo and Dela. He appreciates the opportunity of being part of Kenya's most successful band that has elevated his skills over the years. Is Polycarp Otieno married? The Sauti Sol member is married to Mandy. The ceremony happened in a secret, invite-only wedding at the Fairmont Mt. Kenya Safari Club. Before the elegant wedding, the couple did a colourful traditional wedding in Bujumbura, Burundi.

Willis Austin Chimano

Willis Austin Chimano biography

Willis' musical role in the band is noticeable as he sings in a melodious baritone voice. The Sauti Sol member is a vocalist, keytar, and saxophone player. Because of his flamboyant style, the 31-year-old has stood out in the band. Chimano was born on July 9, 1987, and is 33 years old as of 2020. He graduated with a degree in Journalism & Media Studies from the University of Nairobi. After his degree, he chose to put his effort into the Sauti Sol music group that has grown to be a phenomenal success. Willis' band members have been gradually quitting the bachelor's club, but he has remained single. What is his deal? Many fans are curious about Chimano's relationship and whether he will unveil the lucky person one day. According to the musician, he is under no pressure to settle down and is still looking for the one. Even though the other band members are teasing him for the stance, he is staying true to his word and still searching. However, Willis Austin Chimano might have someone that the public has no idea about.

Savara Mudigi

Savara Mudigi biography

Savara is the other immensely talented vocalist that captures the attention of the audience whenever he sings. He is a producer, drummer, vocalist, DJ, and actor. This incredible versatility has been a great addition to the Sauti Sol band. The vocalist was born on May 25, 1987, and is 33 years old as of 2020. Savara was born and raised in Kenya. He even studied Commerce and Finance at the Africa Nazarene University. Sarava Mudigi's girlfriend is Yvonne Endo. The two love birds met at a concert in Nairobi, a story they shared in the Sol Generation docu-series. The couple is believed to have started dating in 2018.

Bien-Aimé Baraza

Bien-Aimé Baraza biography

Bien-Anime (which means beloved in French) is the band's songwriter, vocalist as well as a guitarist. He was born on December 28, 1987, making him 33 years old as of 2020. Bien is from the Abaluhya tribe that hails from western Kenya. Bien was a student at the United States International University where he studied Journalism and Media Studies. He graduated in 2011. Baraza has been an active member of the group. He put in a great effort in the creation of two albums by Sauti Sol which were: Mwanzo in 2008 and Sol Filosofia in 2011. He is also known to have written songs for artists like Wendy Kimani, Elani, and Amos & Josh. Many people were shocked to discover that Bien is the step-son of the defamed Deputy Chief Justice Nancy Baraza. The former judiciary deputy revealed this during an interview, a matter that she had managed to keep secret for a very long time. Does Baraza have a girlfriend or is he married? The talented Sauti Sol member is married to Nigerian fitness queen, Chiki Onwekwe Kuruka. You have probably seen her on the television show Slim Possible of Citizen TV.
